

LEC 100: Composition Through Masterworks:

Lecture class

Meets: Thursdays (see start date schedule for specific date)

Time: 8:30am - 9:30pm

Length of Course: 10 weeks

Instructor: Timothy Rees

Course Description: Design is best learned by observing successful examples. LEC 100 introduces the students to composition and the role it will play in their work. They learn ways to create strong designs while observing these examples. This lecture class also teaches students methods of composition ranging from formal mathematical structure to established compositional stems, as well as relevant composition methods applying to subjects such as landscape, figure, portrait, still life, and more.
